

General Terms and Conditions of Purchase of NOREVA GmbH (August 2013)

Contracts are based on our General Terms and Conditions of Purchase only even if the seller's written confirmation of order contains other terms and conditions.

The seller's quotations and consultations are not binding on us and are free of charge. The seller must obtain sufficient information about details affecting the subject of the inquiry or order.

1. Award of contract

1.1 Orders are only legally valid if they are drawn up on our order forms and bear a corporate signature or have been agreed in a supply contract.
1.2 To be valid, oral orders or those placed by telephone, fax or electronically must be confirmed by us in writing unless our order placed by fax or electronically contains the provision that no written order will follow. Any amendments or additions must be made in a written agreement.

2. Confirmation of order

2.1 The seller sends an order confirmation duly signed, by return of post, facsimile or scanned email. We shall not accept confirmations of order in any other form. We are only bound by the seller's terms and conditions of supply, if we have explicitly accepted them in writing. The order is unconditional and in compliance with our general terms and conditions of purchase if the seller does not provide the order confirmation within 7 days after receipt of order.

3. Prices and delivery terms

3.1 Prices are firm and apply DDP (latest Incoterms) including packing, preservation, delivered free place of destination, unless otherwise agreed in the order. Title and risk of loss and/or damage to the delivered goods shall be transferred to the buyer at the time of delivery.
3.2 Unless prices and conditions are already specified in our order the contract does not come into effect until there has been agreement in writing on prices or we expressly declare that the usual fee (Civil Code [BGB] Section 632.2) is to be regarded as agreed.
3.3 The seller is aware that we base our price calculation on the agreed prices and to keep those prices for future orders. Only if there is a significant change in costs relating to the order (e.g. wages, carriage, energy) the seller can request an adjustment of the agreed prices consistent with the effect of these cost factors. We determine the nature and extent of any adjustments at our discretion (Civil Code Section 315).

4. Delivery time and Force Majeure

4.1 Delivery time is of the essence. If the seller finds that the agreed deadlines cannot be kept he must inform us immediately. This does not affect the obligation to comply with agreed deadlines.
4.2 In the event of the seller's default we have the right to charge a penalty for delay from 0,5 % of the value of the full order for each calendar week beyond the date of delivery or to claim compensation for any actual losses we incur. If we claim the above penalty for delay, this does not prevent us from claiming compensation for our actual losses in addition to the penalty for delay. The penalty for delay will not be charged if the delivery has been accepted and/or paid for in whole or in part without reservation.
4.3 If it proves impossible to meet a delivery date due to force majeure or due to our delay in making arrangements, the seller must inform us immediately in writing. In this case we decide at our discretion (Civil Code Section 315) whether the delivery period will be extended and by how much.
4.4 Only unavoidable circumstances that were not foreseeable when the contract was entered into, such as acts of war and natural disasters, are regarded as force majeure. Events such as strikes, manufacturing faults, reject castings, power failures or delays by the seller's suppliers are not regarded as force majeure.

5. Delivery / Acceptance

5.1 The seller is aware that we cannot inspect goods for faults, type and quantity as soon as they are handed over or accepted. The seller therefore waives compliance with the duty to inspect and give notice of defects as referred to in the Commercial Code [HGB] Section 377 and 378 and hereby allows a period of up to four weeks after discovery of such faults after the delivered goods are installed.
5.2 The seller gives us an opportunity to pre-inspect the goods in his works. The conduct of such inspections does not imply acceptance. Any costs incurred by such inspections, with the exception of our personal expenses and/or the personal expenses of third parties, are paid by the seller. Any costs resulting from repeated inspections for which the seller is responsible must be paid by him.
5.3 If the goods supplied by us to a third party are installed in a plant liability for material faults and warranty (as part of Clause 6) begins on acceptance of the complete plant.
5.4 A consignment note quoting our order number, item number, quantity, weight in total and per piece and, if necessary, part number, must be enclosed with every delivery.

6. Liability for defects and warranty

6.1 The seller guarantees that the delivered goods are fit for the purpose. If the goods or services are defective, the seller is liable for them in the first instance as part of the agreements made, otherwise in accordance with the statutory terms of the laws on contracts of sale or works and commercial usage and safety rules, official specifications and any other relevant guidelines of the trade associations applying to our registered office. The warranty period is 24 months after delivery. Contrary to the Civil Code Section 635 we have the option of demanding correction of the fault or delivery of fault-free goods.

In urgent cases we have the right, at our option, of correcting the faults ourselves or having them corrected by third parties or having them replaced at seller's expense. In the event of replacement or correction the full warranty period begins when the goods are put into service.

6.2 The seller undertakes to supply spare parts and parts subject to wear and tear for the goods for 10 years after delivery at market prices and delivery times.

6.3 By accepting the order the seller expressly guarantees that the goods are not encumbered by any rights, in particular third-party proprietary rights. He must also hold us harmless from claims by third parties if third parties nevertheless claim rights, and reimburse us for any resulting losses. If any infringement of third-party rights is established, the seller also accepts the obligation either to discharge the patent holder's claims or to alter the goods free place of delivery at his expense so that the infringement of the proprietary rights is lifted without impairing the originally agreed quality, performance or performance guarantees. This does not affect the seller's further statutory liability.

6.4 The seller also accepts statutory liability for any other accepted guarantees.

7. Insurances:

For the duration of the works until end of warranty period the seller shall conclude and maintain the following insurance at sufficient level and at his own expenses: Third party liability and product liability insurance including statutory liability for environmental damages shall be provided by the seller with the following coverage per incident:
Unlimited for death or injury to persons
Euro 5.000.000 all in for damage to property/material
Euro 500.000 for all other damage
A copy of the respective certificate of insurance has to be provided upon request.

8. Cancellation / Suspension

8.1 Cancellation. Even if the seller is not at fault, we have the right to cancel the order in full or in part at any time. If we do so, we must pay the seller the contract price in proportion to the goods and services already supplied and reimburse the verified direct cost of goods and services in progress or reimburse the cancellation of sub-orders. Once cancellation has been declared, the seller must make every effort to keep any costs payable by us as low as possible. No further claims, regardless of their legal basis, will be accepted.
8.2 Insolvency. We have the right to cancel an order immediately if an application is made to open insolvency proceedings against the seller's assets.
8.3 Suspension (Interruption of the execution of contract). We have the right to demand that the seller ceases further works on the order at any time. If we do so, the seller must inform us of the consequences and suggest to us the economically best possible arrangements for proceeding with the project. The seller will not make any claims as a result of suspensions of up to 6 months.

9. Payment

9.1 Unless otherwise agreed, payments are made within 14 days of delivery and receipt of correct invoice less 3.5% discount or 45 days net. If the agreed documents and/or certificates are not produced by the date of payment, the delivery is regarded as not complete and payment will be made only when the missing documents are produced and received. Payment terms which differ from these are only valid if they are mutually agreed and in written form. No verbal agreements are valid.
9.2 We can claim a right of retention for any accounts payable to us by the seller - regardless of the legal grounds - even if these accounts are not yet due.
9.3 Assignments and/or reserves of title by the seller are not recognized unless otherwise agreed in the order.
9.4. In case of advance payments being agreed upon, the seller has to provide a security in the form of an irrevocable bank guarantee in the same amount being valid at least until receipt and acceptance of delivered goods.

10. Order documentation

10.1 The information in our inquiries or orders, enclosed drawings and designs and samples, models, plates and other aids supplied by us remain our property and may not be used for other purposes without our consent in writing; they must be returned on our request with the quotations or on completion of the order. Otherwise the seller will store them for future orders at its costs.
10.2 Any drawings, calculations and other documents, in particular technical documents, supplied by the seller become our property and can be disclosed to third parties without special permission for stock-keeping of spare parts, repairs and alterations. This does not affect proprietary rights.
10.3 The order may only be used for advertising purposes, which also include professional publications, with our permission in writing. Regarding projects for which the seller supplies essential parts, he does not have the right to quote these projects as references.
10.4 The order and any information, documents etc. relating to it must be handled in confidence as our business secret and must not be disclosed to third parties. In the event of a breach, the seller must pay a contractual penalty of 20 % of the value of the order. We also have the right to claim compensation for any loss we incur in addition to the above contractual penalty.
10.5 Leaflets containing technical or commercial information enclosed with the order are an integral part of the order.
10.6 If there are any contradictions in the order documentation or our terms and conditions, the following order is applicable:
1. Text of the order, including appendices.
2. Our "General Terms and Conditions of Purchase".
